

In order to be a leader in Project Unity, you must agree to these terms and conditions to ensure the wellness of everyone involved in our organization.

As a leader, I will not discriminate against anyone because of their gender identity, sexual orientation, religion, disability, age, race, color, national origin, sex, pregnancy, and genetic information.

As a leader, I will conduct all activities with professionalism and good taste and do nothing to damage the reputation of Project Unity.

As a leader, I understand that being in Project Unity does involve directors to volunteer in many other places where some personal risks may be involved. The leader acknowledges and accepts sole responsibility for any such risks of whatever nature that may occur during the term of their role as a leader in Project Unity.

*Keep in mind Project Unity will conduct all activities and events with the directors' and volunteers' safety as a priority. We will advise you on what you should do to keep everyone as safe as possible, but risks depend on the director's personal actions or uncontrollable factors that Project Unity is not responsible for.

*Keep in mind Project Unity is a fully Student-Led organization that does work with United Artesians to create some events. United Artesians is another Organization run by the Artesia Union (in city hall).
